Gossip of the Turf.

"Spooney" Ellison, the well-known steeplechase jockey, under contract to the S. C. Hildreth stable, and about the best rider at the local tracks last summer, has arrived at New Orleans. He confirms the reported probability of the Hildreth horses being occasionally sent down from Memphis for a try at the purses at the Fair Grounds. Ellison rode Filon d'Or in all his successful races at Harlem and Hawthorne, and regrets the colt's non-entry in the Palmetto and other important fixtures to be run off at New Orleans. Ellison, who is a Canadian, a graduate of the Seagram stable, scored his first important win with Sallust in the Cotton Steeplechase at Memphis last spring. Later his continued success over the hurdles brought about his change of allegiance from the Maloney stable to S. C. Hildreth.

It is said that the celebrated Rees-Murphy agreement, anent the respect due to each other's decision before all other things, is still in force. The agreement was to the effect that Mr. Murphy respected all Mr. Rees' decisions in case of fraud, and vice versa. It was imagined that the devastation of the old Turf Congress nullified the agreement and made it inoperative. It does not seem so. Now it appears that Jockey Roscoe Troxler, who was ruled off at New Orleans some years ago by Mr. Rees, is having some trouble in getting permission to ride in California under Mr. Murphy. Ostensibly Mr. Rees ruled Troxler off for interfering with a competing horse. Troxler leaned over and yanked the rein of a horse ridden by W. O'Connor. The punishment seemed rather severe for the offense committed, and it was shrewdly hinted that at the time Mr. Rees held an "ace" on Troxler which he did not spring for public edification. Those who watched Troxler's work at St. Louis can readily understand many things that do not seem quite right.—Daily America.

In regard to some of the workouts at the Crescent City track the New Orleans Picayune of November 23 says: "One of the fastest moves of the morning was that made by the Carey mare, Reseda. Trainer James sent her around the course a couple of times. She had a good-sized stable lad up. After being rubbed down she was ready for fast work. Her rider was instructed to break from the seven-eighths pole and work back to the stand, and to give her her head all the way. The mare broke away like a quarter horse, and after being steadied a bit she settled down and moved along like a piece of clockwork. Her boy sat perfectly still all the way, and as she passed the stand the watches caught her in 1:30. This was splendid work and shrewd judges pronounced it the best shown by any horse up to date. Pronta, from the same stable, went six furlongs in 1:19.

"The Goldblatt stable was also much in evidence. The string was worked in sets of two. Jessie Jarboe and Dr. Hart were the first to appear. McCann was on the former, while the stable's lightweight jockey, Cogswell, was on the two-year-old. They broke together and were sent six furlongs. They covered the distance in 1:15, the first half in 48, and the five furlongs in 1:02. Jessie Jarboe beat the two-year-old about a length and a half. Goldblatt has great hopes of his new jockey—Cogswell. The lad is certainly a promising boy. He can ride at something like 90 pounds, and all that he needs is a few goods mounts to show his ability. The long distance performer of the stable, Deloraine, was sent three-quarters in 1:16.

"Steve L'Hommiedieu's Inaugural candidate, The Rush, was breezed a half in 49 seconds, the first three-eighths being covered in 26.

The rest of the string were given easy exercise. "George Arnold, who is considered by some the best horse at the track, was speeded through the stretch. He broke from the three-eighths post, and pulled up at the stand in 32 seconds. Bummer and Master Mariner worked five furlongs together in 1:06. The pair were under restraint all the way. Both are in good shape and will be heard from in the early sprint events.

"Fake and Choice, of the Morris stable, were sent slow miles. The former was fighting for his head all the way, but his boy was content to rate him along at a little better than a two-minute gait. Choice went the distance in 1:46.

"Pepper Dick, a two-year-old which J. J. Murray, his owner, recently refused $2,500 for, is in a bad way. He developed sickness while on his way from Cincinnati, and after being unloaded from the cars he was conveyed in an ambulance to Fords' hospital. If he recovers he will hardly be seen at the post before next spring.

According to an article in the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune of November 24, Clarence Mackay is not the only turfman on which the post fraud was attempted. It goes on to say that: "Many a supposed world beater which turned out to be a lobster has been sold for a cream price by manipulating the poles on the track over which the colt was tried out. No less a personage than John E. Madden, the famous trainer and horse owner, who is interested with Mr. W. C. Whitney in a number of horses, was once caught by the post moving trick. The story is told by a Kentucky horseman who has been in the city for several weeks. Said he:

"Yes, sir, they turned the trick on Madden a couple of years ago, but the story never got out. John was down in Lexington looking for good colts. As is his custom, he had out a number of scouts looking for good things. One of these heard of a colt which was then owned by George Hinkle, at Lexington, and he brought the information that this colt was to be worked out early the following morning. Hinkle, the owner, did not know that Madden or any one else was to watch his colt work, and, in fact, he was not aware that the half-mile post had been moved over forty yards.

"Bright and early the next morning Madden quietly made his way to the track and awaited developments. In the dim light he could just see the colt start from the half mile post. He snapped his watch, and when the colt finished he found that he had worked in the very fast time of 48 seconds. Madden lost no time in hunting up Hinkle. 'What do you want for that colt?' inquired he, and when Hinkle, who did not realize what was doing, said $2,700, Madden wrote out a check and took the colt. The colt was named Neuberger. Madden shipped it to Louisville and was naturally surprised when he found that the colt could not work anything near the time he caught him in at Lexington. He figured that perhaps the colt was off a little and he shipped him east. There he became satisfied that he had been gold-bricked. He never said a word, however, and gave Neuberger away, and he is still running around here in the west, but I don't think he is out of the maiden class yet, though he is a five-year-old. I saw him run at Chicago last summer. It only goes to show that even the wisest fish sometimes nibble at a bait, but Madden was wise enough never to let the story get out that he had been hoodwinked."

They are having a rather violent time of it down around Benning's, as is attested by the following dispatch from a New York sporting authority:

"If all reports are true that are brought over from the Benning's race track by prominent horsemen who pay semi-weekly visits to New York, the sport of the kings has found a most inglorious ending after the most brilliant season in the east since racing became a sport. It appears that since the wealthy horse owners, the leading bookmakers and the big bettors have removed from the turf for the year the sport has fallen into the hands of the Philistines, so to speak, and the slanderous action of many layers and writers at the Washington track is condemned in no moderate terms by the best patrons of the game. In these days one scarcely reads of anything but scandal attached to the racing at Benning's. Those who are best able to judge of the merits and demerits of a race declare the sport is as clean as it was at Sheepshead Bay. They maintain that the bookmakers, who have not been quite as successful at Washington as they hoped to be, have not had the guiding hand of the big layer, who dropped out when the finish came in New York. For that reason each layer now doing business at the Washington meeting is compelled to tax his own knowledge of the running qualities of the horses. In his battle with the public the layer has discovered to his sorrow that the bettors are 'putting it on him,' and he has resorted to the cry of fraud.

"I have never witnessed the scenes that are enacted at Benning's," said a well-known horse owner on a recent over-night stop in New York. "The public has cleaned up a little on the bookmakers during the meeting, and the latter are loud in their claim that they are being cheated by horse owners and jockeys. They hold out horses that they make favorites without any regard as to what the public may think of their judgment, and when a heavily backed second or third choice walks away with the coin they are adverse to giving the public credit for knowing something and immediately set up a cry of fraud. This occurs in almost every race. It is disgusting and uncalled for and should be stopped."

The Monon, a two-year-old, brother to Moroni, in Waldo's stable, now at New Orleans, has inherited from his sire a propensity for a distance of ground. He is still a maiden, but his ability to go a route of anything further than a mile and a quarter has been often and amply demonstrated in his works.

PRELIMINARY DERBY ENTRIES.

The Preliminary Derby, the first important two-year old stake of the New Orleans meeting, which will be run on Saturday December 14, has filled well. In all fifty-two entries have been made to this event, and among the number are some fast youngsters. The following is a list of those entered:

NOTES OF THE TURF.

A dispatch from New Orleans dated November 25, says: "Charley O'Brien, one of the best handicap horses at the Fair Grounds, and who was considered one of the fast sprinters of the west, died of lung fever last night. He is owned by Mrs. M. Abadie of this city, and was entered in all the principal stakes of the Crescent City Jockey Club.

G. M., Chicago. There is no recall flag used in San Francisco racing. As soon as the barrier flies up it is a go. The starters, Messrs. Dwyer and Holtman, have no superiors in this country. You are in error in thinking the boy who rode Bernato is inexperienced. He rode over 100 winners at St. Louis this year.

H. W. A. The bet on Rosewar was a loser. If A had wished to include Bernato he should have backed the Burns & Waterhouse entry. The entries published in DAILY RACING FORM had the two coupled.

W. Y. H., St. Louis, Mo., October 26, 1901. McMeekin started in the fourth race at Morris Park at post odds of 12 to 1. B. wins by a large majority.

Although Madden has ridden more winners this year in England than Maher, the American jockey, the latter's percentage is much higher, being .23 to Madden's .17.

J. R. K., St. Louis. The odds against Oudenarde in the sixth race at Bennings, November 13, were: Opening, 80; high, 50; closing, 50; place, 15.

A. N., Chicago. You will find an answer to your query in the Sunday issue of DAILY RACING FORM.

Winner—B. c. by Wawekus—Puritan Lass.
Went to post at 2:00. At post 3 minutes. Start fair. Won easily; second driving. Wellsley revealed in the going, was the best and drew away easily in the stretch. Rabunta closed up with a rush after having been outrun to the stretch. Flara finished fast. Astor and Jerry Hunt were worn out in making the pace and the heavy going told on them in the stretch run. Mynheer was at sea in the mud and did not run his race. Connie was cut down in the first furlong.

Winner—Br. f. by Albert—Lady Longstreet II.
Went to post at 2:30. At post 5 minutes. Start poor. Won handily; second driving. Blanche Herman was away well, hard ridden in the last furlong and responded well to urging. Lemoine got off poorly and would probably have won with an even break, but hung when he got up. Chiron swung wide when turning into the stretch and ought to have been second. Illuminate and Lady Teazle ran good races, but lacked the speed to get up at the end. The Bandit and Justice weakened when hard pressed.
Scratched—29482 Bruff, 110; 29542 Meistersinger, 110; 29542 Courtenay, 110; 29542 Longlove, 110; 29542 Little Arrow, 110; 29518 Somersault, 107.

Winner—Ch. g. by Conrad—Lucy P.
Went to post at 2:55. At post 3 minutes. Start bad. Won easily; second driving. Ohnet came around his horses easily in the stretch when Redfern called on him, but was pushed out at the end, as he was tiring. Anak was speedy, displayed strongly and ran Fonoluca into submission. The distance and heavy track were too much for the latter. Oddenarde showed early speed. The last two were caught in the barrier and were turned around when the field got away.
Scratched—(29529) Death, 109; 29497 Scarlet Lily, 109; 29551 Toddy, 109; 29498 Lee King, 109; 29548 Lady of the Valley, 104; 29545 Dewey, 98; 29506 Golaaga, 98.

Went to post at 3:20. At post 3 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second driving. Extinguisher outclassed his company and was going away at the end. A let-up has done White Owl good. She displayed speed in the going and hung on gamely in the run through the stretch. Waswift finished in the deep going next to the rail, but would have been second in a few more strides. Tenagra can do better. Early Eve was outrun after going the first furlong.

Winner—B. g. by Appomattox—Forget Me Not.
Went to post at 3:44. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won ridden out; second driving. Wunderlich saved ground in the stretch by getting through next to the rail, but was tiring at the end and had to be hustled to get home first. There was a lot of crowding in the race and Lamp o'Lee was disqualified. The route was too far for him in the going and Booker roughed it in the stretch in an endeavor to win. Surmise ran a good race after being crowded out in the first furlong. Lee King should have been closer up, but Cochran rode a bad race. He was all over the course and was shut off a furlong from the finish.
Scratched—29521 Warranted, 110; 29533 Mynheer, 110; 29416 Big Gun, 103; 29390 Monmouth Boy, 103; 29531 Barbetto, 95.

Winner—Br. f. by Kingston—Estelle.
Went to post at 4:15. At post 3 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second easily. Kingstelle ran a good race but won only through receiving the benefit of the best ride at the finish. Balloon finished well and was best but Rice could not cope with Cochran. Bounteous revelled in the going early but tired and quit in the stretch drive. Alsike finished fast and would have been third with an even break. Moroton closed a big gap. Harry McCoun weakened when it came down to a drive. Sir Egges showed early speed.

The Ledaean closed a big gap and finished strongly in the worst going and should improve. Milan showed speed, but was evidently short. He is a good looker and should improve.
